

THE POST.

LEBANON, KY.

Wednesday Morning, Nov 12 1856

The Election.

The late Presidential election has turned out to be a most interesting and profitable one. The men whose intense Americanism had been almost bursting out of them have met a worse than Waterloo defeat. It is really amusing to see the contortions of such men as Pienzo and other men of like kidney. They die awfully hard, and no mistake. Plimore got one State by violence and bloodshed, and would have got more had he received a sufficient number of votes.

DEATH.

This is, we know, a gloomy subject, yet the Scripture says "think of thy last end, and thou wilt never sin." These words were forcibly impressed upon our mind whilst covering up on Tuesday last, the remains of that most inestimable lady, Mrs. ROWNTREE. There, in the small iron enclosure, lay the remains of five of her offspring, and her consort stood, like a desolate oak, with two small tendrils yet clinging to him for support. Oh! was it not a picture that an inspired painter might paint? "The Lord giveth, and the Lord taketh away, blessed be the name of the Lord!" These are the sentiments which should inspire the breast of every true Christian in every bereavement. Most sincerely do we condole with our esteemed fellow citizen.

The new Presbyterian Church of this place is certainly going to be a magnificent affair. The ceiling is now finished in fresco, or imitation of "stucco" work we have examined the painting so far as it has progressed and hesitate not in pronouncing it a most exquisite piece of art.

Our town has been quite lively for the past week. We bragged too soon about the peaceable disposition of our citizens, it would seem, as there has been some three public fights and some private difficulties since the election. None have however, turned out disastrous, unless they do so to the belligerents' pockets; as Judge Noble has them under his jurisdiction at the present writing. It is really remarkable that persons can't keep cool during the present cool weather.

J. HENSE & Co. are still in town, taking their superb Ambrotypes. They have given entire satisfaction in all of the numerous ones they have taken, and are prepared to take many more. If you desire good pictures, now is your time, as it may be a long while ere you get a chance like the present. Their Ark is at the same place. Give them a call.

We understand that on Saturday night last, the Democracy of Bardstown had a grand torch-light procession, and the town was illuminated in honor of the great victory achieved by the Democracy. Much enthusiasm prevailed. McCarty's office, we understand, was illuminated most beautifully.

Grave and sedate were the visages of the L. N. S. of Bardstown, as they proceeded on Monday last to take down the last vestige of the once grand "American" party. When, in their endeavors to raise that grand monument of "American" liberty, it fell, and fell a second time, we sympathized deeply with them; and now that it has fell "to rise no more," what shall we do? Let them say, with the young orator:

"You can scarce expect one of my age to speak to public on the stage, And if I chance to fall below Demosthenes or Cicero, Don't view me with a critic's eye, But pass my imperfections by."

COSTA RICA AND GEN. WALKER.—Advices from Costa to the 8th ult., announce that the war against Gen. Walker was to be prosecuted with the utmost vigor, and the Bishop of San Jose had offered all his private property to the government for that purpose. A guard had been stationed on the frontier to watch the Nicaraguan forces. Many deserters from Walker's army, it was said, were daily coming in. A military force of nearly eight hundred men had been reviewed, and found in good order.

WINTER SICK.—The Richmond Whig has shown several beautiful white silk handkerchiefs, made by two young ladies of Rappahannock county, Va. Messrs. Willis, from the profits of silk weaving, are selling them.

SALE.—We have been handed the notice of an interesting sale, below given. It is said to have been found posted up on a venerable old Hickory, on the top of Muldrough's Hill, remounted by a splendid pair of Buck horns, which were gracefully adorned with black cups. We give it a gratuitous insertion in the post—hope our brethren of the press of old parties will aid us in giving the sale as wide notoriety as possible. Pass it round!

Commissioner's Sale!

The People's Office, U. S. Court, at 1st St. In Clancery, Sam. DeWitt.

BY Virtue of a decree rendered at the U. S. Court, on the 4th day of November, 1856, in the High Court of Chancery of the United States, we shall, on the 25th of December next, proceed to sell to the highest bidder, at public auction, upon terms to be made known on the day of sale, the various effects belonging to the said Sam. DeWitt, although of little value, are too numerous to mention in detail. A catalogue will be furnished upon the day of sale. A portion of the property will consist of 10,000 copies of the undistributed and second-hand lives of Andre Jackson Dillmore and Millard Fenselson, published for the late campaign.

5,000 copies of Maria Monk, and Danger in the Dark, published on some account.

The Remains—if any—of the June '55, and February, '56 Platforms. It is thought that the "vacant space" occasioned by the abstraction of the 12th Plank will find many anxious bidders in Kentucky and the south.

4 dozen brass knucks, furnished the democracy of Mercer county, to hang black carpet-bags with—upon the information of the late Blanton Duncan, Esq., of Louisville—from the celebrated history of on Market street, Louisville, Ky. 500 copies of "Orations to Dillmore," and copies for single of the celebrated letter of Col. W. B. Lewis to Gen'l Jackson, upon the "Bargain and Intrigue" humbug.

A full and complete assortment of know-nothing oaths, grips, pass-words, rituals, and degrees. Particular attention is invited to the splendid lot of "5th-degrees" on hand—as there seems to have been great demand for the article in the late election, and a large lot now provided. The "Frankfort Clique," if a purchaser can be had; if not, a premium will be offered to some pious, Pope-leaving citizen to take care of it during life.

Goosey Hancock, Teaching Green, and all that shoal of small fry sports—will be disposed of on the same terms, as they have failed to quarter themselves upon the Government for the next four years.

That 800 gain which the American (?) party made in electing a Democrat Sheriff in Marion county, at the last August election.

Bids will be received for the job of furnishing suitable quarters for the editor of the Louisville Journal, near the head waters of "Salt River," to consist of a log cabin 10 by 14 feet, and six barrels "red-eye"—with a well set bed of Hydro-piper in the yard close to the house, for the purpose of making juleps.

That Rule—with which Americans were going to rule America—for which none but Louisville "western lights," Orange Irish, and German Turners will be permitted to bid.

A splendid band of music will be in attendance. A large crowd is anticipated. To those persons who are ambitious of "new parties" upon the "ruins" of old ones, we can offer splendid inducements, as there will be a fine lot of old rubbish, political hacks, pumps, and smashed-up platforms for sale. All such are particularly invited to attend. Terms of sale, as far as now known, are as follows: If the purchaser be a know-nothing, five years' credit, without interest or security—as it is supposed it will require that long to build another unsuccessful party, and they will be most anxious to buy and least able to pay. If the purchaser be a Democrat, he will be required to pay "cash down," as by that time they will have collected their bets, and have "castings" plenty.

It is hoped that all persons interested will take pains to give this sale publicity; and especially democratic editors, as it is a matter of the highest importance to get up another "institution" off of which democrats can win money—before the next Presidential election.

Sale to take place at "Ure's Turks," at the foot of Muldrough's Hill, in Marion county, Ky.

Captain Willacet, auctioneer. POPE SWIGERT & CO., Commissioners.

P. S: If any of our American friends, who have been betting on Dillmore and Fenselson, do not feel that they have been sufficiently sold, let them attend, and they will be completely sold.

KILLED IN BATTLE.—Clas. Callahan, for many years connected with the New Orleans Picayune, was killed in a battle recently at San Jacinto, Nicaragua. He was very popular at New Orleans, where he was a prominent member of several benevolent institutions. For a number of months he has acted as the Nicaraguan correspondent of the Picayune.

WHAT AT MILWAUKEE.—There are said to be now in Milwaukee warehouses and railroad platforms about 500,000 bushels of wheat which have accumulated within the past sixty days above the average of the past year.

Dogs.

In speaking of this very useful animal, we mentioned a report to the effect that rapids who even approximate the cads for which they were created. But our town is perfectly overrun by a set of worse than worthless curs, whose daily education is fighting in the streets, and whose nightly employment is cutting the throats of muttans, worrying cows, and such like innocent amusements. Wonder if there never will break out a terrible and destructive madly among the dogs of Lebanon? Talk about your "dog days," it is always dog days and dog-nights too in this place. A year or so ago the question was discussed whether or not hogs should be permitted to roam at large; but we think that the question of "dog or no dog," is one of more vital importance. Have not our Trustees the power to enact laws on this subject? If they have, we opine that they would receive the thanks of every citizen by at once attending to the matter.

On a recent visit of our devil to a blacksmith-shop in this place—(don't know what business he had there)—one of the boys told him there were wild geese flying out the chimney, and to vouch for its truthfulness, he was to let the devil use the poker over his head if not so. He looked, but nary geese! He seized the poker, and—"let it diap like a hot potatoe," without anybody telling him.

He says red-pokers are magnetized, for he couldn't hold it!

The Fremont vote in Kentucky is small. It may not reach 1,000. In Marion county, one of the strong holds, it is 77; in Louisville 6; in Clarke county 3.

Fremont's plurality in New York, over Buchanan will be over 50,000 and 90,000 over Fillmore.

The weather is cool, and continues dry.—Nights clear and beautiful.

At this season of the year, Bronchitis and incipient diseases of the Lungs prevail. The best remedy that can be used is Huxley's Sarsaparilla, which relieves in a wonderful manner the short hacking and distressing cough of the consumptive, and allays all irritability of the throat or chest. It is highly recommended by those who have tried its effect in these complaints, as a most surprising remedy, and superior to any Pectoral or Pulmonary balm now in use.—Lou. Times.

New Hare.—Messrs. Triplett & Sells, says the St. Louis News, received this morning the first shipment of Hemp of this year's crop. Mr. W. Connet, of Sarta, Mo., is the shipper. It comes from the Upper Missouri, and is much earlier than ever laid down in this market. We are told that the sample is of the best quality, and if the lint is an indication of what the present crop will be, manufacturers will have no cause to complain.

A gentleman, the other day, visiting a school, had a look put in his hand for the purpose of examining a class. The word "inheritance" occurring, the quirest asked: "What is inheritance?" Ans.—"Patrimony." "What is patrimony?" Ans.—"Something left by a father." "What would you call it if left by a mother?" Ans.—"Matrimony."

FIRE.—The residence of Edward Hughes in this county, about three miles from town, was totally destroyed by fire on Thursday night last, together with most of the surrounding out-buildings. Very little of the furniture in the house was saved. The fire is thought to have been the work of an incendiary.—Danville Tribune.

A lady upon telling her husband that he would, when he died, go to the devil whereupon he replied that he had sold himself to the devil long ago, and in compensation thereof he had given one of his "imps" as an earthly companion.

SMALL NOTES IN TENNESSEE.—In accordance with the law of the last Legislature, on and after September 1, 1856, the issuance or circulation of small notes of a less denomination than $5, by any bank except the Bank of Tennessee, is made an indictable offence, punishable by a fine of not less than five hundred nor more than ten thousand dollars.

Chief Kirkpatrick arrested Kog yesterday. At the late term of the Jefferson circuit court, the grand jury brought in a bill against him for being concerned in the murder of Craddock.

It will be remembered that shortly after the murder of Craddock, Officers Powell and Bigh arrested King on the same charge, but on an examination before the city court, he was discharged. Additional proof has since been discovered, which led to his present arrest.—Louisville Times.

Permission has been granted N. M. Booth to erect a telegraph line between this city and Portland.—Lou. Times.

AD TO THE "LEBANON BRANCH."—A resolution passed the Board of Aldermen on Thursday evening, making an appropriation of $135,000 for the benefit of the Lebanon Branch of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad.—Lou. Times.

Sir Walter Scott and Daniel O'Connell, at a late period of their lives, ascribed their success in this world principally to their wives. Were the truth known, their success would be ascribed to their wives.

From the Correspondence of the N. Y. Daily Times.

Napoleon's Fear of Assassination.

PARIS, Tuesday, Oct 7, 1856. The CONSPIRACIES AGAINST THE EMPEROR.—For once it is evident that the Emperor does not feel easy about the avowed hostility of the press at Paris. He has never before exhibited this feeling as palpably as now. The precautions which he takes for the protection of his person are remarkable, so notorious is the danger to which he is exposed. We know that, already, a number of arrests have been made with three weeks of persons said to be dangerous to the security of His Majesty's person, but at what period since the coup d'etat have we been without public arrests? The impression is general, therefore, that the trials of these various societies will bring out facts of a highly exciting character.

On the day of the return of the Imperial family to Paris, not a journal spoke of the event. No one knew of the hour of the entrance, or what route it would be made. After an absence of a month, it is customary in Paris to make a certain parade on the occasion of a royal or imperial entrance, a parade in which the citizens take part by decorating their houses and by turning out to cheer the cortege. It is one day, the imperial party occupy open carriages. But on the occasion of the late entrance, they were received, surrounded and conducted by a battalion of cavalry—the Guides. They occupied close carriages, followed the guides, instead of the Boulevards, as is customary, and drove at a rapid rate directly through the city of St. Cloud. The whole circumstances of the entrance showed that the Emperor was afraid of an attempt against his Majesty's life. Since his arrival he has gone out to the opera, and on this occasion, all of the evening was mild and pleasant, he rode in a close carriage drove at a furious rate, and was surrounded closely by a double row of Guides, each carrying a loaded and cocked pistol in his hand. It is not unusual to see the Emperor go to the opera with Guides thus equipped preceding the cortege; but it is unusual to see them surround the carriage in the manner mentioned. On this occasion no one knew that the Emperor was going to the opera, for the Guides did not contain the habitual "parade," nor was the fact mentioned in the journals.

At the railroad station, when the Emperor arrived, a considerable number of arrests were made among the crowd which had collected on seeing the soldiers forming in the depot yard. But there is reason to believe that these arrests were made on suspicion entirely, and had no other basis than the excessive alarm of the police for the safety of His Majesty. Other arrests have been made since; but whether Napoleon is favorable to this extraordinary activity of the police is doubtful. He is, however, favorable to a measure which would seem to implicate him to a certain extent in the fears which prevail at the Prefecture of Police. He wishes to raise, and will perhaps, soon issue his decree to that effect, the number of the Imperial Guard from twenty thousand, its present number, to a hundred and fifty thousand men; and of this body of soldiers he proposes to form the permanent garrison of Paris. This army, formed as it will be, of professional soldiers—of men who have served their time as conscripts, and now continue in the service by choice, will be completely devoted to the safety of the Emperor. It will be an army of Bonapartists, an armee d'élite. With such an army always stationed at Paris nothing but disease, or the hand of a cunning assassin, could bring about a change of Government in France.

Ten men were taken from the Works house on Tuesday last by the assistant keeper, taken to the police, voted for Fillmore and Nelson, and then lost upon the community in consideration of the service they performed, although some of them had several months yet to serve the city according to their sentences. Oh! this pure and virtuous K. N. party.—Lou. Courier.

Reverdy Johnson, who was serenade at the Astor House by the young democrats, congratulated them upon the glorious prospect of Mr. Buchanan's election, but confessed his fears that Maryland, which was settled by Roman Catholics, and first unfurled the flag of religious freedom, will disgrace herself by voting for the candidate of that party that goes for religious persecution.

New Orleans, it is said, has received a new impetus in business the whole year.—Its commerce is now larger than any previous year, and the buildings in the course of erect involve an expenditure of over two million dollars, including a medical college, two spacious churches, a synagogue, and other public buildings.

We understand that active steps are being taken to prosecute the parties engaged in illegal voting, on Tuesday. This is right. Let the guilty scoundrels be punished to the utmost extent of the law.—Lou. Con.

Fillmore has the satisfaction of having carried one State—Maryland—and that by violence and blood shed. He is now an equal with Hamphrey Marshall in bloody distinction.—Lou. Con.

Col. W. W. STAFF.—This gentleman has returned to the city, after an absence of some two months at Frankfort, where he has been connected with the Democratic State Central Committee, in which position he did efficient service in planning and directing the movements of the Democratic party in the State.—Lou. Times.

From the Louisville Courier. LAST WEEK, Nov. 7, 1856. El Courier. We have made the evening and they are not ones, Nov. 6, for who would have such as they are. No one but the Fremonters, who are only a second edition of the other parties.

Kentucky is the only State in the Union. Our State has done nobly in this contest. She has taken a bold stand against agitators generally, and the Journal's policy is generally. "Two here the opposition exerted themselves to defeat the Union Democracy. They proudly boasted of their foremen and determination to defeat Kentucky's golden chieftain in this war." In this city everything that fraud, largesse and sublimity, perjury and villainy could do, was done to defeat Breckinridge in his own home. The upstarts of perjury, were thrown in the way of his success, and money without limit was offered by the Journal's household, to give a majority against him, but it was all to no purpose. Breckinridge's majority in the city proper, is upwards of 50 votes. There are nearly 200 votes polled in the city that belong to the county of Fayette, in a distance of one and a half miles from the town limits, which gave the Fremont sympathizers a majority of two dozen—151 Fremont sympathizers, for they are nothing else; I mean the greater portion of them. Their whole course of conduct proved it. On yesterday morning there was great rejoicing among the craft when reports reached us by telegraph, that nearly the entire north had gone for Fremont, and that Pennsylvania would declare the election, and even that State might vote as New York has done. If their own candidate had been elected, their rejoicings could not have been greater than they were yesterday, at the possibility of the success of the freedom sticklers. All hail, Pennsylvania! The glorious old Keystone State well deserves the honor.

REPEATEDLY VISIBLE. It is stated that the whole white male population of the United States over 21 years of age, and, to be presumed, entitled to votes, is about 5,100,000, and yet the votes cast at a Presidential election seldom exceed 3,100,000, leaving 2,000,000 of inhabitants who do not use their franchise. In the State of New York, in 1852, the voting population exceeded 800,000, yet the votes returned did not much exceed 500,000. In Massachusetts, the white males over 21 are nearly 300,000, and yet the vote in 1852 was only 133,000, leaving nearly two thirds of the adult population, for some cause or other, had staid away from the polls. And the proportion is nearly as great in several other States.

From the Louisville Courier.

Blessings like misery, never come singly.

They crown us with happiness profusely. We have saved the country. We have elected Buchanan, and now, thanks to the same over-acting kind Providence, we are now the seat of a most glorious and refreshing rain. Last night the water came down in torrents, straight from the free and pure vault of heaven above, falling upon Demas the soil, and encouraging Lord Levees. The river is now bound to rise. Coal will be plenty. Business will be brisk. All is well.—Lou. Con., 8th.

The Bureau of the Courier.—The Missouri synod of the Lutheran Church here, had before them the all-important inquiry whether the bread at the sacrament table must be cut or baked. After several days of prayerful consideration, and the most solemn debate, it was decided that it was heterodox to bake the bread, and that it must hereafter be cut by the minister into small pieces. Now that the all-important question is settled, we suppose that there will be no more in the Church—at least in Missouri. Sermons should not be church in substance, but in spirit—(of which the above is a fair sample) has the tendency to keep many out of the church, who would otherwise become active members of it.

Obituary.

DIED—Nov. 5, 1856, at the residence of her son-in-law, Rev. T. H. Colman, in Lebanon, Ky., Mrs. ROSANNAH CHURCH, in the 72d year of her age.

Theresa, a native of Lebanon, Ky., who had been married for many years to a highly respected member of the Presbyterian Church of this place. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was a woman of no ordinary character. She discharged the duties of the family relation—as daughter, wife, mother, and mistress, with exemplary fidelity. Having inherited the charms of person and beauty, she was a very attractive and interesting person. She was a member of the church, and a devoted adherent of its doctrines. She was

Wednesday Morning, Nov. 12, 1856.

Rags! Rags!! Rags!!!

Clean Linen and Cotton Rags wanted at this office. The highest price in CASH will be paid for any amount brought.

Notice.

All personal communications to this paper will be hereafter charged as advertisements, and must be paid for, before they can appear. This rule will be adhered to strictly.

The snow on Friday was so heavy on the Western New York railroads as to bring snow plows into use. Some of the trains were delayed in time.

The land sales of the Illinois Central Road for September were $96,800; the earnings of the road were $300,000.

The Montreal ocean steamers will, during the winter season, run between Portland and Liverpool.

Miss Margaret H., eldest daughter of Gen. Twigg, U. S. Army, died at New Orleans, 35th ult., aged 24 years.

The loss of Illinois still leaves a decided majority for Buchanan and Breckinridge. They can afford to lose both Florida and California, and still have a majority. But both these States will doubtless vote the democratic ticket.

Pennsylvania, Indiana, and New Jersey have certainly voted for Buchanan and Breckinridge. Pennsylvania by about 10,000, Indiana by about 15,000; and New Jersey by about 1,500.

Iowa, Wisconsin, and Michigan, have, we think, gone for Fremont.

The six New England States, Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and Connecticut, all voted for Fremont.

Eleven persons escaped from the Nashville jail on Tuesday night.

Fremont, from present indications, is in a minority in Pennsylvania of at least 100,000 of the whole vote of the State.

Near Rock Point, in Green River co., Va., on Thursday week, at the residence of Wm. T. Mann, George Fox, about 15 years old, was instantly killed and partly eaten by a large pet bear, belonging to Mr. Mann.

Arrangements have been made for the establishment at Cincinnati of a branch of the State Bank of Ohio, with a capital of $300,000.

Out of a hundred bonnets sold last week, it has been ascertained that more than ninety were supplied to ladies who had gone in just to choose a bit of ribbon.

It is stated that arrests continue to be made in Paris of individuals suspected of conspiring against the life of the Emperor. The conduct of His Majesty, on the occasion of his return to Paris and since, gives the impression to the public that these arrests are based upon facts which fully warrant the utmost vigor of the police. His entry into Paris was private, unannounced as regards the hour, and made under the most cautious circumstances. His carriage, which was closed, was surrounded by mounted men, and instead of passing over the usual route he passed rapidly through the city by the river quays.

Rev. Chas. Howard Malcolm, says the Pennsylvania Bulletin, has been dismissed from his church in Wheeling, for introducing slavery into his pulpit.

A hal tazing a horse in Albany, on Monday, was seized by the animal, thrown upon the ground, and nearly stamped to death.—Lou. Times.

The old Methodist meeting house in Bangor, Me., has recently been sold and converted into a dancing hall, styled Morambega Hall.

Kansas just at this time seems to be quiet, but how long it will remain in that pleasant condition, it is impossible to tell.

The whole vote cast in Louisville and Portland is 5,853. Of this the know nothings cast about 500 fraudulent votes. There is at least 1,000 Democratic votes unpollled, principally amongst our naturalized citizens, many of whom left the city, and many others of them could not be induced to go to the polls, for fear of personal violence.—Lou. Times.

Sam'l B. Thomas, Esq., of Hardin did vote for Buchanan and Breckinridge, notwithstanding the fact that in the Journal.—Lou. Times.

QUEBEC, Nov. 3.

The steamer Canadian from Liverpool with dates, arrived this morning. The steamship Canada from Boston, arrived at Liverpool on the 19th.

It is reported that Lord Palmerston is preparing a new reform bill. Lord John Russell has threatened a similar measure. England and France have suspended diplomatic intercourse with Naples. No hostilities have yet occurred.

A terrible accident occurred in London while the Rev. Mr. Spurgeon, the famous Baptist preacher, was preaching at Concert Hall, a false alarm of fire was raised, causing a stampede, and several persons were trampled to death.

The statement that France had summoned Austria to evacuate the principalities, is not credited.

The Cologne Gazette says all powers, excepting the United States, have assented to the original protocol respecting the sound dues.

A ministerial crisis and financial difficulties exist at Constantinople. The ministerial crisis resulted in the reinstallation of the old ministry.

The French commercial crisis is assuming a more favorable aspect. Persa solicits the mediation of France in her difficulties with England.

New York, Nov. 4

We have reports of serious riots in a number of down town wards, and in one or two of the up-town districts. The parties in collision are the friends of Messrs. Wood and Libby, the opposing democratic candidates for Mayor. Several persons have been injured by pistol shots. In some of the districts the polling places have been destroyed. Warrants have been issued for the arrest of the ring leaders.

Brave Boys.—About two weeks ago, two sons of Mr. J. S. Willhoite, of Monterey, Owen county, one ten years old, and the other eight, rode their father's horse to the Kentucky river to water. The horse plunged in and attempted to swim across the river, with both boys upon his back.

When near the middle of the stream, they tried to turn the horse back toward the other shore. This made him capsize, and both the boys slipped off into the water, and the horse left them. As they slipped off, the elder said to the younger, "Hold on to me, and I'll swim out with you." He did hold on, and the other actually swam ashore with him upon his back, dragging at the same time through the water a tin bucket which the younger had strung by the bail upon his arm.

How it was in Lexington.—The election in Lexington passed off very quietly. Nobody was hurt except the Journal's family. They died hard. Their last struggle was made at 20 minutes to six o'clock. Just before their demise they determined to see their flag float from the great high pole on the public square, where it had been kept all day. An effort was made to hoist it, but it hung at half-mast. One poor fellow tried to climb up to untangle the stripes, but fate was against them. The news came pouring in from different parts of the Ashland District. All their money lost. Philadelphia sends word Pennsylvania has gone for the Democracy by twenty thousand. All hail Pennsylvania! is shouted by every Democrat on the square. The Fillmoreans pull at the cord like a colt with the first halter on, but when their banner reached the desired height, the rope broke and down came the flag, and with it the last hopes of the disconsolate k. ns.

A New Light in English Literature.—The London Press says that all the readable articles in Household Words are written by a young fellow named Sala. This young literary Bohemian, as we have heard from other sources, is a most remarkable instance of literary mimicry, and his fecundity is not less marvellous than his imitative talents. He writes so much in the style of either Dickens or Thackeray, that it would take a sharp critic to distinguish the false from the real author; and, what is more marvellous still, is his facility of imitating popular actors. People have wondered at the fertility of invention and industry of Dickens, in writing so many articles in the Household Words, while he was at the same time engaged in writing his Bleak House and Little Dorrit. But the secret of his wonderful fertility is explained by the announcement of the fact that he has an admirable Crichton in his pay, who acts as his double. This literary journeyman is the son of Madame Sala, a theatrical performer.

The advances, says the New York Journal of Commerce, in the value of silver abroad, has created a demand for small silver coin for export to Cuba and other points South, and a premium has been paid for dimes, which will pass for the same as shilling pieces (twelve and a half cents,) when the latter is scarce.—It is has lead to the impression that silver change is scarce, and can only be procured at a premium. This is not so; silver can be procured at the United States Mint at Philadelphia in exchange for gold at par, and merchants and others who want it for the purpose of change, can procure it in sums of from $50 to $100 at the Sub-Treasury, without change or exchange for gold.—Lou. Courier St.

The United States frigate Congress arrived at Naples on the 28th ult., after a year's cruising in different parts of the Mediterranean. A letter written by an officer on board, after giving a graphic view of the threatening state of affairs in that capital, says that "things have assumed so serious an aspect that our Minister resident, Mr. Owen, has made a formal request of our Commodore that some of the ships of our squadron may remain in the vicinity of the city."

Oldest Negro Yarn.—We have at last got hold of a particular old negro. There has been countless cases of tubercular advanced lungs, but the case below, which we copy from an exchange, is said to be authentic, and finishes the list. She ought to be shown around:

"Some time ago I sent you an account of an old negro man, who died in Charleston at the advanced age of 113 years.—Since then I have seen a statement of a negro woman, who died in Fauquier county, Va., aged 141. A friend, who was formerly an officer in the United States Army, relates that when he was stationed at Pitts Christian, in Louisiana, he was in the habit, with his brother officers, of visiting an aged negro woman who sold her milk. On one occasion the following conversation took place:

"Old woman, how old are you?"
"I dunno, Massa."
"How long have you lived about here?"
"O, long time, long time, massa." She then went on to relate circumstances in connection with the history of the country which proved that she must have arrived at a very advanced age.

"Well, can't you refer to any circumstance by which you may come at your age?"

"Well, Massa, I've had nineteen children, and that girl (pointing to an old woman) is the youngest; and I know she's nineteen."

The BANNEK STATE.—On 11th night, it appears, will have the honor of being the Banner State in the great national contest that has just ended. The majority will be over 20,000, and may reach a higher figure. Pennsylvania will be the constant of the privilege of wearing the back's horns, and has done most nobly for own son.—Lou. Times.

False Remedy.—We are happy to be able to state that the rumor of the death of a son of the Hon. J. C. Breckinridge is untrue. His second son was severely burned by an explosion of powder, and days since, but is by no means dangerously injured.—Lou. Times.

Negroes Wanted.
I WISH TO PURCHASE FIFTY likely young negroes, of both sexes. For such I am willing to pay the highest prices.
All letters addressed on that business will be promptly attended to at short notice.
Address WILLIAM MATTHEW, June 25, 57-ly. Barstow, Ky.

CONSUMPTION.

Successfully treated by Inhalation of Medicated Vapors.

BY JOHN STEWART, Esq., M. D., Fellow of the Royal College of Physicians, and for years senior Physician in the London Royal Infirmary, for diseases of the lungs.

In this age of progress, Medical Science has contributed her full share to the general welfare; and that which shines resplendent, the brightest jewel in her crown, is her last and greatest gift, MEDICATED VAPOR INHALATION, in the treatment of CONSUMPTION, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA, and kindred affections. All must see the absurdity of treating Consumption through the stomach, by filling it with nauseous drugs; the disease is not in the stomach, but in the lungs, and by inhaling the medicine in the form of vapor, it is applied directly to the diseased organ. There is, therefore, no use in a useless inhalation with a reach. I earnestly appeal to the common sense of all afflicted with lung diseases, to embrace at once the advantages of Inhalation.

Inhalation in the treatment of consumption. As a place amongst the price less gifts that nature and art has given us, that "every day may be long in the hand," and as the only ark of refuge for the Consumptive, and the patient not only rational, but simple, safe, and efficacious.

I have pleasure in referring to 108 names, residents of New York and neighborhood, who have been restored to vigorous health. About one-third of the above number, according to the patients' own statements were considered hopeless cases.

The Inhalation method is so long, safe, and consists in the administration of medicines in such a manner that they are conveyed into the lungs in the form of vapor, and produce their action at the seat of the disease. Its practical success is destined to revolutionize the opinions of the medical world, and establish the entire CURABILITY of Consumption.

Apoplexy, all these states, they have labored from the lungs, if they have lost flesh, have a cough, blood spits, and a fever turns, what and how much they expectorate, what the meaning of their stomach and bowels. The Medicines, Apertus, &c. will be forwarded to any part.

TESTIMONY.

"We, the undersigned, practitioners in medicine, have carefully examined Dr. John Stewart's method of treating diseases of the throat and lungs, as the best and most effective ever introduced into medical practice. Our convictions are based upon having several of our own patients, confirmed consumptives, restored to vigorous health after a few months' treatment by Dr. Ross.
In the above named disease, the application of "Medicated Vapors" inhaled directly into the lungs may be justly considered a great boon to suffering humanity, rendering consumption a perfectly curable disease.
Dr. Ross deserves well of the profession for his strenuous and unswerving exertions in bringing this successful and only reliable method of treating consumption to such a degree of perfection.
Signed,
W. YNE BREWSTER, M. D. New York.
RALPH STORRE, M. D. " "
JOHN A. MOTT, M. D. " "
CYRUS KINGSLEY, M. D. " "
And eleven other eminent practitioners in this and neighboring cities.
Terms.—Five dollars, consult. free. Balance of fee payable only when patients report themselves convalescent.
N. B. The new postage law requires that all letters be prepaid. My correspondence being extensive, applications to ensure replies must enclose postage.
Dr. Ross's Treatise on Consumption—price one dollar. Address
JOHN STEWART ROSE, Office, 231 Broadway, New York.
Money orders must be registered by the Post-Office; and letters only being at any risk.

Special Notices.

When death is at the door, the remedy which would have saved life, if administered in time, comes too late. Do not tarry with this, as it is only upon it that when the stomach will no longer receive food, and the system is prostrate, the system upon the sleep is disturbed, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where the system is prostrate, the patient is restless, the mind is troubled, the nerves are morbidly sensitive, and the head is oppressed—only upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the power of vitality is failing, and that, unless the remedy is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, gathered from all over the world, that in every case, where

